Jefferson Parish Public School System
Corrective Action Plan

February 27, 2006

In accordance with the conditions set forth in the Mediated Settlement Agreement, the Special Master (D. Joe Olmi, Ph.D.) was appointed in early December 2005. An initial meeting was held on December 15, 2005 with Dr. Diane Roussel (Superintendent of JPPSS), Ms. Barbara Adams (Assistant Superintendent of Special Programs), and various other upper level JPPSS central office personnel to overview the corrective action planning process. Soon thereafter, various parties (plaintiffs' attorneys, JPPSS administrative personnel, and personnel from the LA Department of Education) were consulted, and the Corrective Action Planning Team (hereto referred to as the CAP Team) was formed. The JPPSS CAP Team was composed of a variety of education professionals (DOE personnel, a representative of the local teachers' union, JPPSS personnel including central office administrative personnel, pupil appraisal, building level administrators, general education teachers, and special education teachers), parents of children with emotional disturbance from within the Parish, and parents representing Families Helping Families. The CAP Team met three successive weeks (January 10, 17, and 24, 2006) to offer input to the Special Master regarding the development of elements of the CAP. Additionally, the Special Master met with JPPSS Pupil Appraisal on January 31, 2006 to review the Mediated Settlement Agreement and to suggest system changes that would result in successfully meeting specific terms of the Agreement. Special thanks are offered to all members of the CAP Team for their diligent work and efforts. Their input was invaluable to the planning process. The CAP Team included the following members:

Bettie McMurray	Parent of JPPSS Student with Emotional Disturbance		Laura Nata	Families Helping Families
Emily Roubion	JPPSS Special Education Teacher

Broadly speaking the proposed CAP is intended to address several critical issues relevant to services for JPPSS students identified with emotional disturbance as a result of the spring 2005 monitoring and as dictated in the Mediated Settlement Agreement. Those issues include, but are not limited to, the following:

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Denial of FAPE <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Flawed IEPs ○ Flawed FBA/BIP process ○ Failure to comply with IDEA (now IDEIA) discipline procedures ○ Educational benefit to students with emotional disturbance ○ Poorly developed or nonexistent transition plans ○ Absence of progress monitoring ○ Transitional services/vocational planning 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Lack of adequate/appropriate related services ▪ Parent involvement ▪ A School Building Level Committee process that fails to function as a problem solving model ▪ Lack of access to Least Restrictive Environment (general education setting/curriculum) ▪ Lack of transition planning ▪ Professional development as related to service delivery to students with emotional disturbance ▪ JPPSS policy/procedure changes in several indicated areas

In advance of offering the CAP, it is imperative that JPPSS entertain a moratorium on any personnel reductions in special education teaching units or in pupil appraisal personnel. One would anticipate student numbers to approximate or increase to levels beyond pre-Katrina levels within the year; therefore adequate teaching and support staff would be critical.

To meet the CAP, pupil appraisal is perceived to be a critical element in the service delivery system. Yet, based on information gathered during the planning process, there appears to be a lack of standard operating procedures within that body relative to intervention planning/development/implementation, the delivery of related services, and general implementation of state mandates for the provision of services to students with emotional disturbance, and possibly to students within other disability categories as well.

Additionally, there are two other critical elements in the CAP process that hold significance for all students in JPPSS, not only those students with emotional disturbance. It is imperative that each building in the Parish begin to develop and implement a positive behavior support model, and JPPSS must reformulate the current SBLC process from a low hurdle to special education eligibility to a general education problem solving model that results in effective intervention for any student experiencing academic or behavior problems. The first step in this systems change process would be to rename the School Building Level Committee (SBLC) to the Academic/Behavioral Intervention Team (ABIT) or some variation in name thereof.

Data from the 2004-2005 State Special Education Data Profile indicated that the percentage of the student population composed of students with disabilities (excluding Gifted/Talented) in Jefferson Parish (13.22%) which does not exceed the state average (13.6%). More noteworthy is the fact that the JPPSS percentage of students with disabilities who are classified with ED is more than 2.5 times the state average (12.8% versus 5.1%). The only surrounding parish with a higher percentage of students with disabilities who are classified with ED is Orleans Parish.

These data and disproportionality data within the ED population suggest a pre-referral system that is not functioning efficiently or as it was initially designed for any child in JPPSS much less children with ED. While disproportionality issues were not specific to the Mediated Settlement Agreement, it is important to note that approximately 51.9% of the JPPSS population is black as compared to 52.4% of the students with disabilities. Within the ED population, approximately 63.9% of the students are black; approximately a 12% differential.

Since Luke S., it seems that the SBLC process has moved from an intervention design/problem solving model to primarily a special education eligibility function. While statewide and parish data regarding the suspected increase in initial assessments are not presented here, I would suspect that the number of assessments per one thousand students has increased over the years since Luke S. A review of the incidence of initial assessments per one thousand students for Jefferson Parish and surrounding or nearby parishes reveals a higher incidence for JPPSS (4.5/1000) as compared to other surrounding districts (Orleans, 3.4/1000; EBR, 3.6/1000; Lafayette, 2.8/1000; and St. Mary, 3.5/1000).

There are several components in the presented CAP. While some of the elements of the CAP are able to be implemented on a more immediate timetable, other elements suggest more long-term efforts.

Goal 1: To articulate to parish teaching and administrative personnel the urgency and intent to comply with the articulated elements of the Mediated Settlement Agreement and the LA DOE approved Corrective Action Plan (CAP)
