1 I, Margo Schlanger, declare as follows:

2 1. I am the Wade H. and Dores M. McCree Collegiate Professor of Law
3 at the University of Michigan. I have substantial expertise in the law, policy, and 4 procedures affecting both criminal and civil detention, including standards and 5 practices relating to immigration detention oversight. I have been retained by 6 Plaintiffs' counsel in this case as an expert on this topic, among others.

7 2. I have been asked to render my opinion with respect to ICE and DHS 8 oversight of civil immigration detention.

9 3. A true and correct copy of my curriculum vitae is attached as 10 Exhibit A.

11 I. PROFESSIONAL QUALIFICATIONS

12 Appointments and Experience

13 4. I have been a tenured law professor at the University of Michigan 14 since 2009, except for a two-year period in 2010 and 2011 when I was on leave to 15 serve as the presidentially-appointed Officer for Civil Rights and Civil Liberties 16 (CRCL) at the U.S. Department of Homeland Security. CRCL reviews and 17 investigates civil rights and civil liberties complaints filed by the public regarding 18 DHS policies and activities, including violation of rights while in immigration 19 detention or as a subject of immigration enforcement.

20 5. I teach a variety of courses at the University of Michigan, including 21 Torts; Constitutional Law, including advanced classes about the Equal Protection
22 Clause; and Prisons and the Law. I have taught seminars on a variety of topics, 23 including Homeland Security and Civil Rights. I also founded and serve as the 24 Director of the Civil Rights Litigation Clearinghouse, <http://clearinghouse.net>. I
25 am a faculty affiliate of the University of Michigan Center for Forensic Psychiatry
26 Fellowship in Forensic Psychiatry and in that capacity teach and advise forensic 27 psychiatrists-in-training.

28 6. I previously held faculty appointments at Harvard Law School
(associate professor), Washington University Law School (professor), and UCLA

1 Law School (visiting professor).

2 7. I have had many relevant non-academic appointments in the past.

3 Among them (in reverse chronological order):

- 4 a. After appointment by DHS Secretary Jeh Johnson, I served from 5 November 2015 through October 2016 as a member of the 6 Immigrations and Customs Enforcement (ICE) Advisory
7 Committee on Family Residential Centers, which recommended
8 improved policies and practices relating to family immigration 9 detention of noncitizens.
- 10 b. In 2012-2013, as part-time Counsel to the Secretary, I advised 11 DHS Secretary Janet Napolitano on civil rights matters, including 12 reducing the use of restrictive housing and minimizing sexual 13 assault and abuse in immigration detention, and the appropriate 14 oversight and administrative mechanisms to implement those 15 goals.
- 16 c. As the Officer for Civil Rights and Civil Liberties at DHS in 2010
17 and 2011, I was the head of civil rights for DHS, with 18 responsibility for, among other things, civil rights complaints and 19 advice on immigration detention policy and practices. In that role,
20 I was also the senior DHS official with responsibility for assessing
21 and improving compliance with Section 504 of the Rehabilitation
22 Act of 1973, the statute banning disability discrimination by 23 federal agencies.
- 24 d. From 2007 to early 2010, I served as the Reporter for the 25 American Bar Association task force on Standards relating to the 26 Treatment of Prisoners. In that capacity, I was the principal drafter 27 of both the standards themselves and the associated commentary.
- 28 e. From 2006 to 2008, I served as a member of the Commission on Safety and Abuse in America's Prisons, a blue-ribbon panel

1 sponsored by the Vera Institute of Justice and chaired by former 2 Attorney General Nicholas de B. Katzenbach and former Judge
3 John Gibbons, which made recommendations for civil rights
4 improvements in prisons and jails.

5 f. From 1995 to 1998, I served as a Trial Attorney and then a Senior
6 Trial Attorney in the U.S. Dept. of Justice, Civil Rights Division,
7 Special Litigation Section; among other activities, I conducted 8 investigations of jails and prisons and their compliance with the 9 Constitution and the Americans with Disabilities Act, and related 10 litigation.

11 8. Outside of my academic appointment, I have served since June 2015
12 as the court-appointed Settlement Monitor in Adams & Knights v. Kentucky
13 Department of Corrections, No. 3:14-cv-00001 (E.D. Ky.), a state-wide case about 14 deaf and hard-of-hearing prisoners' access to programs, services, and activities 15 offered by the Kentucky Department of Corrections and the constitutionality of 16 their conditions of confinement. In that capacity, I have conducted many 17 inspections of correctional facilities, both on-site and by way of a written "self-18 audit" instrument that I developed.

19 9. I have also been retained as an expert in: Sabata v. Nebraska
20 Department of Correctional Services, Case No. 4:17-cv-03107-RFR-MDN, 2019
21 WL 3975373, at *4 (D. Neb. Aug. 22, 2019), where the Court held my expert 22 declaration on disability-related policies, practices, and procedures appropriate 23 under Daubert v. Merrell Dow Pharms., Inc., 509 U.S. 579 (1993), and Novoa v.
24 GEO Group, No. 5:17-cv-02514 (C.D. Cal.), a class action challenging the GEO
25 Group's use of detained immigrants' labor in their facilities.

26 10. I serve as one of four class counsel in Hamama v. Adducci, 2:17-cv-
27 11910-MAG-DRG (E.D. Mich.), a case in which plaintiffs challenge planned mass
28 deportations of Iraqi nationals.

28 quantitative and qualitative empirical papers in both law reviews and peer-reviewed journals such as the Journal of Empirical Legal Studies and the Annals of 1 the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

2 II. FACTUAL BASES AND SUMMARY OF OPINIONS

3 13. I have been asked to render my opinion on the oversight of civil 4 immigration detention, and in particular on the current oversight of COVID-19
5 pandemic-related operations in immigration detention facilities.

6 14. My opinions, as outlined herein, are informed by my knowledge, skill, 7 experience, training, and education, including my substantial experience in this 8 area at the Department of Homeland Security as head of DHS's CRCL, special 9 counsel to the Secretary, and member of the Advisory Committee on Family and 10 Residential Centers; as well as my knowledge of standards relating to 11 incarceration/detention such as the American Correctional Association's 12 Performance-Based Standards for Adult Correctional Institutions and 13 Performance-Based Standards for Adult Local Detention Facilities, and the 14 American Bar Association's Treatment of Prisoners Standards (2011), which I 15 played a lead role in drafting.

16 15. In addition, over the past several years, I have read a wide variety of 17 documents and reports relating to ICE oversight of immigration detention; the most 18 pertinent are cited below.

19 16. My opinions herein are also informed by my review of documents
20 related to COVID-19 policies and practices share by ICE with plaintiffs in this 21 case.

22 17. My work on this matter is ongoing and my opinions are partial and 23 preliminary, based on the available information I have reviewed to date. It is my 24 understanding that additional documents and information may be forthcoming 25 during the course of this litigation, and that discovery is ongoing. Based on the 26 information I have reviewed, I am confident in the preliminary opinions contained 27 in this declaration. I reserve the right to supplement my opinions as additional 28 information becomes available.

18. Based on my review of the materials available to me, it is my opinion

1 that the administrative structure of ICE immigration detention renders the need for 2 ICE oversight particularly acute. Yet ICE has a long and documented history of 3 poor oversight. Its routine oversight mechanisms are insufficient to detect non-4 compliance or induce compliance with applicable detention standards. And its 5 follow-up when problems are detected is inconsistent and unsystematic, failing to 6 correct even known problems.

7 19. From what I have been told about ICE's COVID-19 oversight, these 8 same problems apply. ICE's self-reporting checklist is apparently the centerpiece
9 of the compliance regime. But the document is deeply flawed and entirely 10 inappropriate for such a role.

11 20. Moreover, even a well-designed checklist cannot be more than one 12 small part of an oversight system that provides clear policy and sets clear 13 expectations; evaluates compliance (both proactively and responsively); and that 14 ensures corrective actions where needed. The documentation I have been shown 15 does not evidence such a system.

16 21. Based on the information I have reviewed, ICE does not have in place
17 the elements of appropriate oversight of COVID-19 response by immigration 18 detention facility operators.

19 III. BACKGROUND ON ICE OVERSIGHT OF IMMIGRATION 20 DETENTION

21 22. ICE oversees an extremely diffuse detention system, with hundreds of 22 facilities housing tens of thousands of detainees. It does not play the chief 23 operating role for any of those facilities, instead contracting with private and public 24 entities who actually run the facilities. The administrative structure renders the 25 need for ICE oversight particularly acute.

26 23. ICE oversight is further complicated by the many applicable detention 27 standards. ICE has issued four different sets of standards governing ICE detention:
28

1 the 2000 National Detention Standards (NDS), revised in 2019;<sup>1</sup> the Family
2 Residential Standards, issued in 2007;<sup>2</sup> the 2008 Performance Based National 3 Detention Standards<sup>3</sup> (PBNDS 2008); and the 2011 Performance Based National 4 Detention Standards (PBNDS 2011), revised in 2016<sup>4</sup> largely to reflect civil rights 5 initiatives—sexual abuse prevention, disability and language access, and use of 6 solitary confinement, use-of-force reporting, and some others.<sup>5</sup> The standards
7 applicable to each detention facility are negotiated as part of ICE’s contract with its 8 operator.

9 24. DHS has several overlapping detention conditions oversight
10 processes. Some types of oversight happen routinely on a set schedule; others—11 generally the more thorough inquiries—occur much more rarely, and based on 12 complaints, adverse incidents, or special initiatives.

13 25. In general, those more rare and thorough inquiries demonstrate that 14 the routine oversight mechanisms are insufficient to detect non-compliance or 15 induce compliance with the applicable detention standards. There is abundant 16 evidence that the routine inspections and monitoring fail to reliably induce 17 compliance with ICE’s detention standards; they do not reliably deter, detect, and 18 cure problems.

19 26. The routine inspections—which may be conducted by contractors or 20 by ICE personnel—have frequently and persuasively been criticized as 21 insufficient. For example, the contracted inspections have been found to focus on

1 written policies and procedures, rather than on actual practice. According to a DHS
2 Inspector General report, contact inspectors do not take steps to “ensure the facility
3 was actually implementing” those policies.<sup>6</sup> They do not include effective detainee
4 interviews.<sup>7</sup> And the reports of inspections did not reflect the observed results.<sup>8</sup>
5 Evidence suggests that ICE’s own inspectors focus somewhat more on practice,
6 rather than merely announced policies. But they too are demonstrably
7 incomplete.<sup>9</sup>

8 27. For both the contracted and non-contracted routine inspections, even 9 when deficiencies are identified, the DHS IG has documented “ICE’s failure to 10 ensure that identified deficiencies are consistently corrected.”<sup>10</sup> Some of this is a 11 failure of ICE follow-through. Sometimes, detention facilities asked about 12 deficient practices simply decline to fix them. More generally, ICE “does not 13 appear to have a comprehensive process to verify whether facilities implemented 14 all the corrective actions until the next Nakamoto [contracted] or ODO [non-15 contracted] inspection.”<sup>11</sup> ICE simply does not have any system by which it (a) 16 requires development of corrective action plans, or (b) monitors whether any such 17 plan has been successfully implemented.<sup>12</sup> Unsurprisingly, even observed

1 deficiencies go uncorrected.<sup>13</sup>

2 28. The problems with ICE’s detention inspection methodology,
3 resourcing, and follow-up are longstanding. A June 2018 report on inspections by 4 the DHS Inspector General pointed out:

5 As some of our previous work indicates, ICE’s difficulties with 6 monitoring and enforcing compliance with detention standards
7 stretch back many years and continue today. In 2006, the Office of 8 Inspector General (OIG) identified issues related to ICE detention 9 facility inspections and implementation of corrective actions. In our 10 2006 report, we recommended that ICE “improve the inspection
11 process and ensure that all non-compliance deficiencies are identified
12 and corrected.” In a December 2017 report, which related to OIG’s
13 unannounced inspections of five detention facilities, we identified
14 problems in some of the same areas noted in the 2006 report.<sup>14</sup>

15 29. In 2016, a subcommittee of the Homeland Security Advisory Council 16 (HSAC), an independent (but DHS-appointed) committee that advises the 17 Secretary of Homeland Security, suggested that if DHS was going to continue 18 using private contractors and local jails for immigration detention, it needed a 19 “more robust, effective and coordinated inspection regime,” including:

- 20 • Conducting “qualitative review of outcomes”
- 21 • Doing unannounced inspections
- 22 • Improving “recognition of, and follow-up on, problematic 23 practices identified in earlier inspections”

- Improving “the array of tools and procedures used to assure effective response to identified deficiencies, including monetary withholding or contract reductions, plus rigorous follow-on review by ERO and other personnel”
- Adding processes apart from inspections that would “connect[] more directly to timely remedy of deficiencies”<sup>15</sup>

30. As far as I have been able to determine, very little has been done along the lines of the HSAC subcommittee report. DHS Inspector General John V. Kelly testified to a House Appropriations subcommittee in March 2019, “neither the inspections nor the onsite monitoring ensure consistent compliance with detention standards, nor do they promote comprehensive deficiency corrections.”<sup>16</sup> Neither do the more thorough inquiries themselves induce such compliance; they demonstrate problems but not their correction. The oversight deficits that prompted the HSAC subcommittee’s recommendations remain.

31. ICE could, but does not, supplement its inspection regime with contract-based oversight.<sup>17</sup>

32. ICE has non-inspection monitoring methods, as well: Its Enforcement and Removal Operations unit has several dozen onsite Detention Service Managers—ICE employees who have, since 2010, monitored compliance at selected facilities. In December 2017, 35 DSMs monitored compliance with ICE detention standards at 54 facilities.<sup>18</sup>

1           33.    DSMs spend time at the larger ICE facilities, and one of their roles is 2 to routinely identify deficiencies and get them corrected. The June 2018 DHS OIG
3 reports that “DSMs noted 6,216 and resolved 4,331 deficiencies in FY 2017.” But 4 even though it is their job to “provide technical guidance to the facilities on 5 implementing corrective action plans,” the IG report explains that DSMs do not 6 solve the monitoring gap:

7            Although ICE’s inspections, follow-up processes, and DSMs’
8 monitoring of facilities help correct some deficiencies, they do not 9 ensure adequate oversight or systemic improvements in detention
10 conditions; certain deficiencies remain unaddressed for years.<sup>19</sup>

11           34.    Among the reasons is that the DSMs “typically must rely on local 12 ERO field office assistance because corrective actions are a field office
13 responsibility.”<sup>20</sup> This can lead to inaction:

14            DSMs at a few facilities portrayed local ERO management as 15 “disengaged” or “reluctantly responsive” in detention issues; they 16 described the relationship between DSMs and ERO field
17 management as “not very productive.” One Custody Management
18 supervisor said that some ERO field office managers are “hands off”
19 and consider DSMs “a nuisance.”<sup>21</sup>

20           35.    In sum, ICE oversight of detention facilities suffers from well-21 documented and longstanding flaws. Too often, ICE’s monitoring consists of 22 “check-the-box” type efforts that are not actually effective at detecting 23 noncompliance with its standards or curing deficiencies once identified.

24           36.    From what I have been told about the ad-hoc COVID-19 oversight 25 currently underway, these same problems apply to it, as ¶¶ 37-65 develop.

1 IV. COVID-19 OVERSIGHT

2 COVID-19 Facility Checklist and Other Oversight Documents

3 37. I have been provided with several types of COVID-19 oversight
4 documents, filled out for all or nearly all the facilities that house ICE detainees.
5 The most common is titled, “Detention Oversight Unit (DOU) COVID-19 Facility
6 Checklist.” It asks several dozen yes-or-no questions. (E.g., “Has the facility
7 ensured adequate stock of Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) for staff usage
8 (masks, N95 respirators, medical disposable gloves, eye protection, face shields, 9 etc.)?”).

10 38. There are a few other questionnaires which have several dozen more 11 open ended questions. For example:

- 12 • “Explain everything happening at the facility in regards to 13 detainees and PPE, including such things as when/where 14 detainees are mandated to wear it; when/where it is optional;
15 what type of PPE they are wearing; how much PPE do they 16 receive; how often; how is it cleaned or exchanged, etc.”
- 17 • “Give examples of the many ways the facility has implemented 18 social distancing for detainees in the facility, covering the 19 various areas of the facility (such as housing units, common 20 areas, EOIR, law library, recreation, chapel, cafeteria).”

21 39. And there are other questionnaires that are more limited, and have 22 many fewer questions, but still somewhat open ended. E.g., “If detainees are 23 [receiving masks] how many does each detainee get and what types?”

24 40. In this declaration, I chiefly address the Y/N checklist document, 25 because that is what nearly all the facilities received and filled out.

26 Checklists as an Oversight Method

27 41. Obviously self-reporting has flaws as an oversight method; facility 28 staff or leadership can lie or make self-interested mistakes. Nonetheless, given the large number of facilities that ICE oversees, it is reasonable to begin oversight by

1 information gathering. A checklist can be a useful part of this kind of effort. A 2 checklist can serve multiple goals:

- 3 a. Informing facility leadership about rules and objectives.
- 4 b. Eliciting information about whether the rules are being followed 5 and/or the objectives are being met.
- 6 c. Elicit information to trigger or inform more detailed evaluation 7 and follow-up.

8 42. To perform any of these functions, a checklist needs to be clear,
9 organized, and appropriately granular. In areas in which it is difficult to obtain 10 sufficient information from a response, or in which there is some reason to fear 11 misunderstanding, it should request supporting documentation.

12 43. Even if a checklist-type monitoring instrument has these 13 characteristics, it cannot be more than one small part of an oversight system. It 14 must fit in a system that provides clear policy and sets clear expectations; that 15 thoroughly evaluates whether the facility is complying with policy and meeting 16 expectations, both proactively and responsive to signs of a problem; and that 17 ensures corrective actions where needed.

18 44. Overseers can inquire into inputs or outputs. For example, an inquiry
19 into inputs might ask whether the facility has a particular number of medical staff
20 per 1000 detainees; an inquiry into outputs might ask, instead, about waiting times
21 for sick-call. Both types of inquiries can be very helpful, but ICE detention is so 22 varied that output inquiries may be particularly important.

23 ICE's Checklists and Its Flaws

24 45. In my opinion, the COVID-19 Checklist (the Checklist beginning at 25 Bates number ICE000000211, attached as Exhibit B) I reviewed is an entirely 26 inadequate instrument for ICE oversight of immigration detention. It has several 27 basic flaws, discussed in ¶¶ 46-65.

28 46. To summarize, even if every single answer provided to the Checklist were completely forthcoming and reliable, it would not be a good instrument. The

1 document has so many flaws that it really reads like a first draft; I simply cannot 2 see how it would be a functional oversight step for ICE. It does not educate 3 facilities about what is needed, it does not elicit information about whether 4 appropriate policy is being implemented, and it does not elicit information
5 appropriate for follow-up. As described below, it omits some crucial topics
6 completely, and others in part; it asks compound questions that mean that answers
7 are unreliable; it seeks uninformative responses; it asks leading questions; it
8 assumes knowledge that should be the very topic of oversight; it is often difficult 9 to understand, and it asks about inputs with respect to topics that would be better 10 served by inquiry into results.

11 Omissions:

12 47. The Checklist does not ask anything about many of the topics of 13 interest. For example, it does not cover the measures a particular facility has taken 14 to protect medically vulnerable people, the circumstances when detained 15 individuals should be tested for COVID-19, or the number of such tests that have 16 been conducted.

17 48. Even for questions that are included, there are odd omissions. For 18 example, the checklist asks: “Are officers/staff wearing a mask and gloves during 19 the classification?” But there is nothing special about classification to warrant it 20 being singled out in this way. Why not the rest of admissions processing or other 21 similar meetings with detainees?

22 Compound questions:

23 49. The Checklist asks compound questions, encouraging “check-the-24 box” response rather than careful consideration of each component of the answer.
25 For example, if ICE really wants to know whether there is sufficient Personal 26 Protective Equipment (PPE) on hand for staff, rather than asking, “Has the facility
27 ensured adequate stock of Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) for staff usage
28 (masks, N95 respirators, medical disposable gloves, eye protection, face shields, etc.)?” it could ask something like, “For each type of PPE, please list how many

1 are used in a typical week by staff, how many week’s worth the facility has on 2 hand, and whether you have an adequate source for additional supplies if needed:

Item	Used per week by staff	Weeks’ worth on hand	Adequate source for more?
Masks
N95 respirators
Medical disposable gloves
Eye protection
Face shields
Other (please list)

15
16 50. A question like the suggested one about staff PPE would accomplish 17 several goals:

- 18 a. It would educate the survey-taker about what kinds of PPE are required.
- 19 b. It would clearly elicit information about each type of PPE.
- 20 c. It would be detailed enough that someone answering in good faith 21 would need to go find out the answer, not just guess or say “yes” 22 without thought.
- 23 d. It would inform both the survey-taker and ICE of a problem—if 24 there are too few of some item or another on hand, or if no
25 adequate additional sources exist.

26 51. Not every question would have to as complex as this. Sometimes, a 27 simple Y/N can be sufficient—but a Y/N about something that is clear. For 28 example, the current question, “Are the sanitizing products available and placed at

1 strategic locations?” assumes that the facility knows what “strategic locations”
2 means. Such assumptions undermine oversight. Instead, ICE should itself identify 3 what it means by “strategic locations” and then ask about each such location. E.g,

4 Are sanitizing products available for detainees in:

5 Housing units (Y/N)

6 Gym (Y/N)

7 Etc. (including other)

8 Are sanitizing products available for staff in:

9 Break rooms (Y/N)

10 Control rooms (Y/N)

11 Supply rooms (Y/N)

12 Etc.

13 52. Other similarly flawed compound/imprecise questions include, for 14 example, “Have social distancing strategies implemented during facility operations 15 (e.g. interviewing, escorting, etc.)?”

16 Eliciting uninformative responses.

17 53. Many of the survey questions do not really get at any information of 18 interest; they ask something in the area, but fail to quite hit the item of interest.
19 For example, the second question in the checklist is, “Has the facility reviewed 20 existing pandemic emergency plans and made any adjustments due to COVID-21 19?”

22 54. I infer that the point of this question is that facilities should have a 23 pandemic emergency plan, and that such a plan has certain required features—so if 24 the existing plan lacks those features, it should be amended. But the question does 25 not say this. I cannot see why it matters whether there was an existing plan that got 26 amended or a new one. An appropriately revised question might ask something 27 more like:

28 a. Does the facility have a pandemic emergency plan?

b. What is the most recent revision date?

- 1 c. Does the plan, as it currently exists, have the following features:
2 (With key features listed, each on their own line with a Y/N.)
3 d. Please provide a copy of the pandemic emergency plan.

4 Again, a question like this would educate facilities about what is needed, and also 5 facilitate ICE follow-up.

6 55. Similar problems exist for many of the other questions. E.g., “Does 7 the facility have a policy for protecting staff and detainees while transporting 8 positive or suspected COVID-19 detainees?”; “Does the facility have a laundry
9 room procedure for COVID-19 cases?”; “Has the Facility Administrator modified
10 programs within the facility during the COVID-19 crisis i.e. food service, religious 11 services, recreation, law library etc.?” “Is there a policy/procedure to 12 sanitize/disinfect hold rooms that held detainees that are suspected of COVID-19?”
13 “Does the facility have staff training plans?” For each, a more appropriate 14 approach would not ask “Is there a policy?” or “Has the policy been changed?” but 15 rather “What is the current policy, and does it have the necessary elements?”—
16 sharing what those necessary elements are and asking about each separately. And 17 where it is difficult to itemize what the elements should be, a request could be 18 made for a copy of the plan/policy.

19 Leading questions

20 56. Some questions in the Checklist invite Y answers where more care
21 should be elicited. For example, instead of “Are cleaners and EPA-registered
22 disinfectants used on surfaces effective against the virus that causes COVID-19 23 and are the label instructions being followed?” ICE would be more likely to get 24 accurate information if it asked, “What cleaners and disinfectants are being used on 25 surfaces? List brand or active ingredient and concentration.” And separately, “How 26 can you be confident that label instructions are being followed?” with room for 27 response.

28 Assuming knowledge

57. Some questions assume knowledge that good oversight would require

1 to be evaluated. For example, “Is ICE/ERO being informed of all issues related to 2 COVID-19?” Instead, this question should say something like:

3 Is ICE/ERO being informed of the following COVID-19 issues:

Issue	How ICE/ERO are informed	Timing of ICE/ERO notice
Positive COVID-19 test result for detainee
Positive COVID-19 test result for staff/contractor
Etc.

10
11
12
13
14 58. Similarly, the existing question, “Is a screening for COVID-19 15 symptoms and temperature check worked into the release planning?” assumes that 16 the facility knows how release planning should incorporate these items. And “Is 17 correspondence and other mail to include legal mail compliant with the applicable 18 standard?” assumes that the facility knows what that standard is.

19 59. A slightly different example of an existing question that assumes 20 knowledge that a facility may well not have is, “Is signage outside visiting areas 21 explaining the COVID-19 screening, temperature check, and hygiene process in 22 place? Is it readable and understandable for non-English speakers and with low 23 literacy?” The first sentence is fine. The second part is not. By “readable and 24 understandable for non-English speakers and with low literacy,” does ICE intend 25 to say that the information should be translated, or turned into pictures? If the 26 latter, that may be quite difficult; if ICE really wants it to happen, it probably needs
27 to offer support/expertise. If it wants to be confident of compliance, it should ask 28 for a copy of the low-literacy version.

2 Difficult to understand.

3         60. Some of the questions are simply difficult to figure out. For example,
4 “Is medical urging the postponement of non-urgent outside medical visits?” Urging 5 who? And why “urging,” rather than simply postponing (if that’s the preferred
6 answer)? Or “Are there reporting requirements for suspected and positive COVID-
7 19 cases?” Reporting to who? “In facilities where detainees are able to retain 8 personal property are the items being sanitized accordingly?” What does 9 “accordingly” mean?

10         61. Some questions are difficult to understand because they seem to be 11 asking the same thing as other questions. E.g., “Are operational procedures in 12 place for Quarantine Housing for symptomatic or confirmed COVID-19
13 detainees?” and “Are detainees exhibiting COVID-19 symptoms separated or 14 isolated?”

15 Asking about inputs when what matters is results.

16         62. In some questions, ICE asks about inputs it has no way to evaluate, 17 and should, instead, ask about outputs. For example, rather than, “Has the medical 18 unit increased its staffing to allow for Covid-19 procedures to occur while still 19 addressing ordinary medical treatments throughout the day?” ICE might ask:

20         With respect to medical care: for each of the following non-COVID medical 21 needs, what is the current wait time, and has it increased?

- 22         • Routine physicals
- 23         • Chronic care clinics
- 24         • Non-urgent sick-call
- 25         • Urgent sick-call
- 26         • Urgent out-of-facility health care visits

27 The Need for Follow-up

28         63. Even a perfect checklist instrument would only be a start of appropriate oversight; follow-up is needed. Follow-up would obviously need to

1 press when an unsatisfactory answer is provided. In addition, there are likely to be 2 areas in which the best way to assess policy or practice is to ask for it to be 3 documented, and then follow-up would evaluate that documentation.

4 64. ICE has a very poor record with respect to follow-up like this. See ¶¶ 5 27-34, supra.

6 65. In addition, follow-up would be far easier if responses were digitized;
7 the fact that ICE used a paper process undermines its ability to follow up and to 8 assess ICE detention systemwide.

9 V. CONCLUSION

10 66. All my opinions contained herein are based upon my review of the 11 pertinent records currently available to me and my training, education, and 12 experience, and are offered to a reasonable degree of probability.

13 I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the United States of 14 America that the foregoing is true and correct, and that this declaration is executed
