PLAINTIFFS' MOTION FOR A TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER AND/OR PRELIMINARY INJUNCTION

PLAINTIFFS' MOTION FOR A TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER AND/OR PRELIMINARY INJUNCTION

Plaintiffs Reverend Paul A. Eknes-Tucker; Brianna Boe, individually and on behalf of her minor son, Michael Boe; James Zoe, individually and on behalf of his minor son, Zachary Zoe; Megan Poe, individually and on behalf of her minor daughter, Allison Poe; Kathy Noe, individually and on behalf of her minor son, Christopher Noe; Jane Moe, Ph.D.; and Rachel Koe, M.D. (collectively “Plaintiffs”), hereby move the Court pursuant to Rule 65 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure for preliminary injunctive relief and/or a temporary restraining order preventing the enforcement of Alabama’s Vulnerable Child Compassion and Protection Act (the “Act”), prior to its May 8, 2022 effective date. In addition, Plaintiffs respectfully request this Court exercise its discretion to waive the Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 65(c) security requirement. BellSouth Telecomm., Inc. v. MCIMetro Access Transmission Servs., LLC, 425 F.3d 964, 971 (11th Cir. 2005).

The Act makes it a Class C felony for any “person” to “engage in or cause” the performance of certain medical treatments on any minor, “if the practice is performed for the purpose of attempting to alter the appearance of or affirm the minor's perception of his or her gender or sex, if that appearance or perception is inconsistent with the minor's sex as defined by [the] act.” This prohibition infringes upon the fundamental constitutional rights to parental autonomy and equal protection, violates the right to freedom of speech, is void for vagueness, and conflicts with the Affordable Care Act.

First, the Act deprives parents of the fundamental right to obtain essential medical care for their children, in violation of the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution. Second, the Act violates the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment by discriminating based on transgender status and sex. Third, the Act violates the First Amendment by criminalizing speech that would “cause” a transgender minor to receive medical treatment for gender dysphoria, thereby enacting a speech restriction that is not narrowly tailored to advance a compelling, or even legitimate, state interest. Fourth, the Act deprives Plaintiffs of due process and violates the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments because it fails to “define the criminal offense with sufficient definiteness that ordinary people can understand what conduct is prohibited” and encourages “arbitrary and discriminatory enforcement” by the government. Kolender v. Lawson, 461 U.S. 352, 357 (1983). Fifth, the Act is preempted by Section 1557 of the Affordable Care Act, 42 U.S.C. § 18116, because compliance with the Act would force covered health care providers to violate Section 1557.

As detailed more fully in the accompanying Memorandum of Law, Plaintiffs satisfy the requirements for preliminary injunctive relief and a temporary restraining order. See McDonald’s Corp. v. Robertson, 147 F.3d 1301, 1306 (11th Cir. 1998).

If the Act is not enjoined, Plaintiffs will suffer immediate and irreparable constitutional, medical, emotional, psychological, and other harm, for which there is no adequate remedy at law. The balance of hardships also favors Plaintiffs because a preliminary injunction and temporary restraining order would preserve the status quo; the harm imposed through enforcement of the felony health care ban is far greater than any harm that could result from the preliminary injunction or temporary restraining order. In addition, the entry of a preliminary injunction and/or temporary restraining order is in the public interest.

Accordingly, and for the reasons set forth in the accompanying Memorandum of Law, Plaintiffs respectfully request that this Motion for a Temporary Restraining Order and/or Preliminary Injunction be granted without security. See City of Atlanta v. Metro. Atlanta Rapid Transit Auth., 636 F.2d 1084, 1094 (5th Cir. Unit B 1981) (recognizing “an exception to the Rule 65 security requirement” for “public-interest litigation”); BellSouth, 425 F.3d at 971 (citing City of Atlanta with approval).

Respectfully submitted this 21st day of April, 2022.

[PROPOSED]
TEMPORARY RESTRAINING

[PROPOSED] TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER

Plaintiffs Reverend Paul A. Eknes-Tucker; Brianna Boe, individually and on behalf of her minor son, Michael Boe; James Zoe, individually and on behalf of his minor son, Zachary Zoe; Megan Poe, individually and on behalf of her minor daughter, Allison Poe; Kathy Noe, individually and on behalf of her minor son, Christopher Noe; Jane Moe, Ph.D.; and Rachel Koe, M.D. (collectively “Plaintiffs”) have moved this Court for an ex parte temporary restraining order (“TRO”) pursuant to Rule 65(b)(1) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, seeking to block enforcement of S.B. 184, Alabama’s Vulnerable Child Compassion and Protection Act (“the Act”), an Act that is set to go into effect on May 8, 2022.

The Act makes it a Class C felony for any “person” to “engage in or cause” the performance of certain medical treatments on any minor, “if the practice is performed for the purpose of attempting to alter the appearance of or affirm the minor’s perception of his or her gender or sex, if that appearance or perception is inconsistent with the minor’s sex as defined by [the] act.”

The Court, having considered the pleadings, legal authority, and argument presented in support of Plaintiffs’ Motion, as well as the sworn declarations submitted in support of that Motion, has found and concluded for the specific reasons required under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 65(d) that Plaintiffs have demonstrated: (1) a likelihood of success on the merits, (2) irreparable harm in the absence of a TRO, (3) the equities weighing in favor of the Plaintiffs, and (4) that granting a TRO is in the public interest.

Plaintiffs have established a likelihood of success on the merits of their claim that the Act violates the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment by interfering with the Parent Plaintiffs' exercise of their fundamental rights to seek and determine medical care for their children. Plaintiffs have also established a likelihood of success on the merits of their claim that the Act violates Plaintiffs' right to equal protection under the Fourteenth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution by criminalizing the provision of medically necessary care to transgender youth. Plaintiffs have also established a likelihood of success that the Act violates the First Amendment by criminalizing, based on its content and viewpoint, speech that would "cause" a transgender minor to obtain medical treatment for gender dysphoria. Additionally, Plaintiffs have shown that they are likely to succeed on the merits of their claim that the Act violates the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment by failing to provide sufficient notice of the specific conduct that is subject to criminal penalties under the law. Plaintiffs have further demonstrated that they are likely to succeed on the merits of their claim that the Act is preempted by Section 1557 of the Affordable Care Act ("ACA"), 42 USC § 18116.

Plaintiffs have demonstrated that, absent a TRO preventing the Act from taking effect, they will be denied medical care and suffer irreparable constitutional, physical, emotional, psychological, and other harms for which there is no adequate remedy at law. The balance of hardships between the injuries Plaintiffs will suffer and Defendants' interests weigh in favor of granting Plaintiffs' motion to preserve the status quo, and a TRO is in the public interest.

Satisfied that the Plaintiffs have met their burden for obtaining an TRO, the Court further finds that issuance of a TRO without a hearing and without notice to Defendants or providing them an opportunity to respond is warranted. Plaintiffs have made a showing that immediate and irreparable injury will result to the Plaintiffs if the Act takes effect prior to a hearing on Plaintiffs' Motion for a Preliminary Injunction.

The Court finds that Plaintiffs are not required to provide security pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 65(c).

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that Defendants, as well as their agents, employees, servants, attorneys, successors and any person in active concert or participation with them, are TEMPORARILY RESTRAINED from enforcing, threatening to enforce, or otherwise requiring compliance with Alabama's Vulnerable Child Compassion and Protection Act pending the Court's decision on Plaintiff s Motion for a Preliminary Injunction.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the security requirement of Fed. R. Civ. P. 65(c) is waived and that this injunctive relief is effective upon service.

[PROPOSED]
PRELIMINARY
INJUNCTION

[PROPOSED] PRELIMINARY INJUNCTION

This matter having come before the Court upon the Motion for Preliminary Injunction filed by Reverend Paul A. Eknes-Tucker; Brianna Boe, individually and on behalf of her minor son, Michael Boe; James Zoe, individually and on behalf of his minor son, Zachary Zoe; Megan Poe, individually and on behalf of her minor daughter, Allison Poe; Kathy Noe, individually and on behalf of her minor son, Christopher Noe; Jane Moe, Ph.D.; and Rachel Koe, M.D. (collectively “Plaintiffs”); for good cause shown, it is hereby ORDERED that Plaintiffs’ Motion for Preliminary Injunction is GRANTED.

On April 7, 2022, the Alabama Legislature passed S.B. 184, known as the Vulnerable Child Compassion and Protection Act (“the Act”). On April 8, 2022, Governor Ivey signed the Act into law. It is scheduled to take effect on May 8, 2022.

The Act makes it a Class C felony for any “person” to “engage in or cause” the performance of certain medical treatments on any minor, “if the practice is performed for the purpose of attempting to alter the appearance of or affirm the minor’s perception of his or her gender or sex, if that appearance or perception is inconsistent with the minor’s sex as defined by [the] act.” Plaintiffs seek to enjoin enforcement of the Act until this Court issues a final judgment on the merits of their claims for relief.

The Court, having considered the pleadings, legal authority, and argument presented in support of Plaintiffs' Motion, as well as the sworn declarations submitted in support of that Motion, has found and concluded for the specific reasons required under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 65(d) that Plaintiffs have demonstrated: (1) a likelihood of success on the merits, that they will suffer irreparable harm if a preliminary injunction is not granted, (3) that the balance of equities tip in Plaintiffs' favor, and (4) that a preliminary injunction is in the public interest.

Plaintiffs have established a likelihood of success on the merits of their claim that the Act violates the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment by interfering with the Parent Plaintiffs' exercise of their fundamental rights to seek and determine medical care for their children. Plaintiffs have also established a likelihood of success on the merits of their claim that the Act violates Plaintiffs' right to equal protection under the Fourteenth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution by criminalizing the provision of medically necessary care to transgender youth. Plaintiffs have also established a likelihood of success that the Act violates the First Amendment by criminalizing, based on its content and viewpoint, speech that would "cause" a transgender minor to obtain medical treatment for gender dysphoria. Additionally, Plaintiffs have shown that they are likely to succeed on the merits of their claim that the Act violates the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment by failing to provide sufficient notice of the specific conduct that is subject to criminal penalties under the law. Plaintiffs have further demonstrated that they are likely to succeed on the merits of their claim that the Act is preempted by Section 1557 of the Affordable Care Act (“ACA”), 42 USC § 18116.

Plaintiffs have demonstrated that, absent injunctive relief preventing the Act from taking effect, they will be denied medical care and suffer irreparable constitutional, physical, emotional, psychological, and other harms for which there is no adequate remedy at law. The balance of hardships between the injuries Plaintiffs will suffer and Defendants’ interests weigh in favor of granting Plaintiffs’ motion to preserve the status quo, and an injunction is in the public interest.

The Court finds that Plaintiffs are not required to provide security pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 65(c).

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that Defendants, as well as their agents, employees, servants, attorneys, successors and any person in active concert or participation with them, are HEREBY ENJOINED, pending final judgment, from enforcing, threatening to enforce, or otherwise requiring compliance with Alabama’s Vulnerable Child Compassion and Protection Act.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the security requirement of Fed. R. Civ. P. 65(c) is waived and that this injunctive relief is effective upon service.
